GENERAL REGRET IS EXPRESSED IN LONDON

London, Sept. 10.—The death of E. H. Harriman has caused very general regret throughout the financial district of London, where his work in building up the railway systems in America which he controlled has been greatly admired.

Many of the best-known financiers of London, including Lord Rothschild, are at present out of the city, but Leopold Rothschild said today: "As we had not the pleasure of Mr. Harriman's acquaintance, it would be presumptuous in us to say more than that we regret the loss of a very great man."

Sir Felix Schuster and other financiers expressed regret at the passing away of Mr. Harriman, described by one of them as a "great organizer," but otherwise they preferred not to be quoted. They all agree that a great slump in prices was unlikely, as it was certain that Mr. Harriman's vast interests would be looked after by able men, and that American bankers and financiers would support the market, should any alarm develop.
